

Big wheels keep on rolling

MORE than 300 trucks rolled into Goulburn on Saturday as part of Haulin' the Hume, an annual event raising money for Autism Spectrum Australia. Here, Taralga truck owner Robert Handley showed off his vehicle, much to the delight of his grandchildren Isaac Mills, Liam Tapper, Riley Mills, Tyrell Nwokoye, Latoya Nwokoye and Caleb Tapper. The trucks and their owners congregated at the Recreation Area before travelling the final leg to Yass. See story page 2. Photo: Darryl Fernance.

BOWLING ALLEY REBOUND

By BRITTANY MURPHY

IT'S been some 20 years since a bowling alley operated in the city.

But, come the end of the year, those who used to frequent the facility will be able to take their own children for a round of ten-pin.

Local developers Wollondilly Constructions have again been given the green light to proceed with the development of the Hume Lifestyle Precinct, a facility set to house a 12-lane bowling alley and neighbouring retail outlets.

Council approved the modified DA without discussion during last Tuesday's meeting, taking into account changes made to an original application submitted in January, 2014.

Modified plans comprised internal layout alterations, the combining of Units A and B to house the bowling facility and alterations to the facade.

Proponent Rohan Geale (of Ranger Geale Holdings) told the Post he expected to begin work on the Hume St site in the coming four weeks, and aimed to have everything up and running by December.

"We didn't have any dramas with the application and didn't think there were going to be any problems so now we will be moving ahead as normal and hope to have it done by the end of the year," Mr Geale said.

He believed he had successfully addressed concern from two written submissions regarding noise, hours of operation and security.
